PQG Sewing workshop

Date: Aug 17, 2024

Location: Kathleen Clay Library

Time: 10am to 3pm

The Piedmont Quilters' Guild is excited to announce a sewing workshop on August 17th, 2024, at the Kathleen Clay Library. This event, running from 10 am to 3 pm, will be a wonderful opportunity for members to gather, share skills, and contribute to a noble cause. With a scheduled lunch break at noon, participants have the option to bring a packed lunch or step out to recharge before resuming the day's activities. The workshop's focus will be on creating fleece chemo hats and no-sew fleece blankets, items that will provide comfort and warmth to those undergoing chemotherapy and the homeless community.

The Guild will supply a selection of fleece and patterns for these projects. Members are encouraged to bring additional larger fleece pieces if they wish to craft lap-sized or bigger blankets, allowing for a broader range of contributions. Essential tools to bring with you such as sewing machines, sewing needles, threads, scissors, rotary cutter, pins, clips, cutting mats, iron extension cords, and ironing boards

This workshop is not just about sewing; it's a chance to connect with fellow quilters, exchange tips and techniques, and enjoy the camaraderie that comes with a shared passion for crafting. It's also an expression of the Guild's commitment to community service, channeling the collective talent of its members into creating items that can make a significant difference in someone's life.

The Piedmont Quilters' Guild looks forward to a day filled with creativity, learning, and giving back, marking another successful chapter in its history of fostering a love for quilting and community engagement. Remember to mark your calendars for August 17th and prepare for an enriching and fulfilling experience at the Kathleen Clay Library. Together, we will stitch warmth and care into every piece we create, knowing that our efforts will touch the lives of many. See you there!
